

Learning and Skills

Where is the money and how can I get some?

There have been massive changes in the way that the funding of learning and skills for adults and young people is managed and distributed. One effect is that it has become virtually impossible for smaller third sector organisations to win direct contracts from the Skills Funding Agency or Young Persons Learning Agency.

Despite this there are still opportunities to get funding for learning and skills. These free locally-based informative and interactive seminars are aimed at helping you as a third sector organisation to navigate your way through the skills and learning funding maze and focus your efforts to improve your chance of success.
